ENGLISH

CAREER INFORMATION

English is the study of the written word and involves the study of literature and writing. The curriculum in English is designed to help the student acquire an understanding of literary heritage, develop an appreciation of language, and strengthen communication skills. Academic coursework for an English major should consist of contemporary American literature, modern poetry, medieval studies, Shakespeare, playwriting, creative writing, linguistics, strong communication and persuasion skills, and command of grammar and vocabulary. A bachelor’s degree in English provides a student with skills for a variety of positions in business, research organizations, education, publishing and financial institutions. Some of the career opportunities include advertising, bank officer, editor, financial planner, freelance writer, teacher, journalist, public relations specialist, and speechwriter. Salaries vary widely depending on the field you choose to work in, but professors earn an average salary of $51,000, while some top-level professors earn in excess of $100,000. A lecturer usually earns in the range of $33,200 per year.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Not all universities with this major are listed below. The lower division core preparation is listed for universities with which LBCC has established articulation agreements. The first course listed is the LBCC course; the course in parentheses immediately after is the university equivalent. It is generally recommended to take as many lower-division major courses as possible prior to transfer. Please check www.assist.org for the most current articulation information and information regarding minimum grade for each course, impacted major recommendations, application procedures, etc. Moreover, you must see a counselor to develop an accurate educational plan to ensure your competitiveness for admissions for your school(s) of choice. To thoroughly understand admissions and general education requirements please check the catalog of the transfer university. CSU/UC admissions and general education requirements are outlined on a separate curriculum guide.
