DANCE

CAREER INFORMATION
Dancers perform in a variety of settings, such as musical productions, eating and drinking establishments, opera, musical comedy, television, movies, music videos, and commercials, in which they many sing and act. Dancers who give lessons work in secondary school, colleges and universities, and private studios. Dancers most often perform as part of a group, although a few top artists perform solo. Dancing is strenuous. Due to the physical demands, most dancers stop performing by their later thirties, but they may continue to work in the field as choreographers, dance teachers and coaches, or artistic directors. Some celebrated dancers, however, continue performing beyond the age of 50. Dancers and choreographers face intense competition for jobs. The number of applicants continues to exceed the number of job openings, and only the most talented will find regular employment. Earning of many professional dancers are governed by union contract. Dancers covered by union contracts (dance corps, on film and television) are entitled to some paid sick leave, paid vacations, and various health and pension benefits.
