ETHNIC STUDIES

CAREER INFORMATION

Ethnic studies are the academic investigation of the four major minority groups in the U.S. The interdisciplinary nature of the ethnic studies curriculum program provides students the opportunity to develop a greater understanding of cultural pluralism and to acquire skills needed in professional and social service fields. Further, the major provides students with the theories, concepts, and generalizations needed to comprehend and interpret relations between and among ethnic groups in the U.S. The base of knowledge and the analytical and critical thinking skills acquired by Ethnic Studies students prepare them for a wide variety of career options. These include opportunities in the fields of communications, journalism and media, professional writing, publishing, public relations, bilingual and cultural affairs, historic preservation and curatorship, teaching (with additional courses in education), and many other areas in which competence in analytical and critical thinking and communication is essential.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Not all universities with this major are listed below. The lower division core preparation is listed for universities with which LBCC has established articulation agreements. The first course listed is the LBCC course; the course in parentheses immediately after is the university equivalent. It is generally recommended to take as many lower-division major courses as possible prior to transfer. Please check www.assist.org for the most current articulation information and information regarding minimum grade for each course, impacted major recommendations, application procedures, etc. Moreover, you must see a counselor to develop an accurate educational plan to ensure your competitiveness for admissions for your school(s) of choice. To thoroughly understand admissions and general education requirements please check the catalog of the transfer university. CSU/UC admissions and general education requirements are outlined on a separate curriculum guide.
